Award-Winning Kid Rocker “Mr. Stinky Feet”
Celebrates 10 years with release of new CD – *Upside Down

Jim “Mr. Stinky Feet” Cosgrove has delighted audiences throughout the North America and Europe for the past decade, including two performances at The White House. After giving up his career as a journalist and corporate PR professional, this Kansas City, Mo., native had the sense enough to get a “real” job helping kids laugh. Now he’s known as “Mr. Stinky Feet,” following the success of his 1999 release Stinky Feet. His recordings have earned four national Parents' Choice Awards, a National Parenting Publications Award, and two Parent-to-Parent Adding Wisdom Awards.

Upside Down, Cosgrove’s seventh CD release, celebrates the wondrous (and sometimes topsy-turvy) moments in a kid's life like discovering a Pizza Tree in the backyard, watching bugs party in the basement, swinging as high as the sky, and scribbling outside the lines. The collection of 13 songs includes "Let's Stick Together," a tune inspired by (and performed with) his 3 1/2 -year-old daughter Lyda and how she handled the harrowing experience when her then eight-week-old sister Willa suffered skull fractures and brain swelling after being hit by a line-drive foul ball at a professional baseball game.

Mr. Stinky Feet draws on his wealth of stories and experiences touring with his family to produce an exciting collection of new music for today's kids. With this effort to reach out to his long time fans and bring new ones into the fold, Cosgrove offers Upside Down as his most entertaining, story driven, mom/dad savvy, and kid-friendly album to date.
